It is some 1,400 Minnesota business and professional firms—from the smallest to the largest—and more than 50 local chambers of commerce banded together to seek collectively goals not attainable on an individual basis.

MACI is a non-profit corporation supported only by members' dues, guided in program development and policy establishing by a board of directors elected by the members, and staffed by a team of persons with expertise in fields covered in the association's programs and activities.

Generally, MACI's endeavors are in four environments—

ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT - in which it is concerned about those things having to do with Minnesota's economic development and the conditions for optimum operation of business;

GOVERNMENT ENVIRONMENT - in which it presents the viewpoints of business in legislative and administrative matters and encourages greater participation of businessmen in the political and governmental processes;

NATURAL RESOURCES - in which it has provided leadership in the sensible approach to proper management of air, water, soil and other resources;

HUMAN RESOURCES - in which it works for the fullest utilization of Minnesota's resource of manpower and skill through good employee relations, adequate and diversified training, and rehabilitation.
