IN REPLY REFER TO:

November 29 1960

Honorable Orville L. Freeman
The Governor of Minnesota
St. Paul, Minnesota

Dear Governor Freeman:

On November 18 we air mailed you a copy of the advance report, 1960 Census of Population, presenting the final counts for counties and cities in the State of Minnesota. Our letter said:

> "We have just completed compilation of the final official 1960 Census of Population counts for the various areas of your State. Enclosed is a copy of the advance report showing certain of these figures. The complete final report is now being prepared for publication and we will send you a copy as soon as it is printed."

We regret that this mailing seems to have miscarried and are therefore sending you another copy of the report.

Sincerely yours,

Robert W. Burgess

ADVANCE REPORTS

Final Population Counts

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 3,413,864. This is a gain of 431,381, or 14.5 percent, over the 2,982,483 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for minor civil divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-25A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Minor civil divisions.--To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau applies the general term "minor civil divisions." From State to State they are known variously as townships, towns, judicial districts, election precincts, and the like. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right and in other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed--some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions, and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

May 23, 1961

IN REPLY REFER TO:

Honorable Joseph L. Donovan
Secretary of State
St. Paul 1, Minnesota

Dear Mr. Donovan:

Mr. Eckler has asked me to reply to your letter of May 17 regarding the revision in the 1960 population of Kinney village.

The change in the population of Kinney village from 240, as originally published, to 396 was due to the fact that 156 persons enumerated as residents of Scott township actually were residing in the village. Thus, the population of Scott township should be reduced from 411 to 255. No changes are necessary in the population figures for St. Louis County or the State of Minnesota.

I am sorry that you were not informed of the change in the 1960 population of Scott township at the time you were sent the revised certification for Kinney village.

Sincerely yours,

Howard G. Brunsman

Dear Mr. Donovan:

This is in response to your telephone conversation of March 6 with Mr. Guy A. Lutz, our Regional Field Director in St. Paul, Minnesota, concerning a probable reversal of the population figures for Nerstrand village and Wheeling township.

We have examined our records and have found that the enumeration districts for the two places were reversed. Certificates for the correct April 1, 1960 population figures are enclosed.

We regret these errors and should like to thank you for bringing them to our attention.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Sauer:

Mr. Burgess has requested that I reply to your letter of December 12 concerning the low 1960 Census count for Alden. You were correct in assuming that the totals for the villages of Alden and Conger were inadvertently reversed. The proper count for Alden is 694; this total will be reflected in the final census publications for Minnesota.

Census Counts for Alden, Conger, and Lamberton, Minnesota

In response to the telegram of December 15 from Mr. Lutz of the St. Paul Field Office concerning the 1960 Census counts for Alden, Conger, and Lamberton, Minnesota, the following determinations have been made:

1. ED numbers for Alden and Conger were reversed. That situation has been corrected, and the final counts are 694 for Alden and 215 for Conger. We have notified the Alden village clerk to this effect.

2. The final count of 1141 for Lamberton is correct as it stands. What probably caused confusion is that the city's population is shown as 141 in table 3 of the Advance Report. The proper total is reflected in table 2.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

Enclosed is the official certificate of the population of the Village of Chanhassen, Minnesota, according to the special census taken as of April 1, 1965. Chanhassen was not included in the list of special censuses sent to you on June 1.

In that list we inadvertently misclassified three municipalities. They should have been described as Bloomington city, Burnsville village, and Crystal city. Please note also that the list should have shown that the special census of Glendale township excluded Savage village for which a separate census was taken.

Dear Mr. Allen:

I regret the delay in my reply to your letter of September 15 regarding the revision in the 1960 population of Clearbrook Village.

As indicated in the footnote of the report, "Series PC(1)-A for Minnesota, the figure shown in the body of the table excludes population for an area incorrectly classified as outside the village limits. Therefore, the population of Lee township should be reduced to 450 and the population of Clearwater County is not affected.

Dear Mr. King:

It appears at the time the 1960 Census was taken an error crept in regarding the Village of Clearbrook and the Township of Loon in Clearwater County, and in view of this error we wrote to the Bureau of the Census for clarification and a copy of their reply is enclosed herewith.

Our reason for sending this to your office is that we believe it will affect the liquor tax and cigarette tax apportionments for this county.

We merely wish to call this to your attention and perhaps your records are correct.

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 3,413,864. This is a gain of 431,381, or 14.5 percent, over the 2,982,483 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for minor civil divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-25A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Minor civil divisions.--To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau applies the general term "minor civil divisions." From State to State they are known variously as townships, towns, judicial districts, election precincts, and the like. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right and in other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed--some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions, and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

Mr. Forest Talbot
Assistant Secretary of State
Room 128 State Capitol
St. Paul, Minnesota

Dear Mr. Talbot:

The enclosed Report PC-2 No. 37 is the first report covering all counties in Minnesota published from the 1950 Census. The PC-1 No. 5 bulletin, also attached, contains statistics only for selected counties in Minnesota. There was no No. 37 issued in the PC-1 Series.

Please feel free to call on us whenever we can be of further help.

Very truly yours,

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

1950 CENSUS OF POPULATION

PRELIMINARY COUNTS

September 11, 1950 Washington 25, D. C. Series PC-2, No. 37

PRELIMINARY

POPULATION OF MINNESOTA, BY COUNTIES
APRIL 1, 1950

(The figures in this report are preliminary counts of population as compiled in field offices and supersede those for the same areas which have been published in Series PC-1. Figures for some areas not published in Series PC-1 are also included in this report. Additional reports in Series PC-2 will be issued as preliminary counts for other States become available)

The population of Minnesota as of April 1, 1950, was 2,968,135, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1950 Decennial Census of Population, reported today by Roy V. Peel, Director, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. This figure represents a gain of 175,835, or 6.3 percent, over the 2,792,300 inhabitants of the State enumerated in the 1940 Census.

The preliminary population counts shown below represent the number of persons enumerated in the State, each county, and each incorporated place of 1,000 or more, but not the final verified population totals. The final population totals may differ from the preliminary counts because of the allocation to the place of usual residence of persons who were enumerated elsewhere, the inclusion of crews of vessels docked within an area but not included in the preliminary count, and because of other revisions.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

1950 CENSUS OF POPULATION

PRELIMINARY COUNTS

July 7, 1950 Washington 25, D. C. Series PC-1, No. 5

PRELIMINARY

POPULATION OF SELECTED COUNTIES AND INCORPORATED PLACES

APRIL 1, 1950

(The figures in this report are preliminary counts of population as compiled in field offices. Additional reports in this series will be issued as preliminary counts for additional counties become available. These reports will be replaced by reports in Series PC-2, which will be issued for each State and which will contain the preliminary counts for all counties and incorporated places of 1,000 or more)

Preliminary counts of the population for 155 counties and for the incorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more within these counties were reported today by Roy V. Peel, Director, Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. These counts are based on the 1950 Decennial Census of Population. Announcements have been made to date for a total of 793 counties, including the counties presented in this report.

The preliminary population counts shown below represent the number of persons enumerated in each county or place but not the final verified population totals. The final population total for any place may differ from the preliminary count because of the allocation to the place of residents who were enumerated elsewhere and of crews of vessels docked in the place but not included in the preliminary count, and because of other revisions.

PREFACE

This report presents statistics from the 1960 Census of Population on the number of inhabitants of the State, its counties or comparable areas, urban places, and certain other areas of the State. Legal provision for this census, which was conducted as of April 1, 1960, was made in the Act of Congress of August 31, 1954 (amended August 1957), which codified Title 13 United States Code. Comparable statistics from earlier censuses are also presented in this report.

The major portion of the information compiled from the 1960 Census of Population will appear in Volume I, Characteristics of the Population. A description of the other final reports appears on page IV. Volume I consists of separate reports for the United States, each of the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Canal Zone. For each of these 57 areas, the data will first be issued in four separate, paper-bound "chapters," designated as PC(1)–A, B, C, and D. The four chapters for each area will then be assembled and issued in a buckram-bound "part." In addition, all of the 57 chapters "A" will be assembled and issued in a buckram-bound edition, designated as Part A. (For Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Canal Zone, the material normally contained in chapters B, C, and D will be included in chapter B.)

Series PC(1)–1A to 57A: Chapter A. Number of Inhabitants. These reports contain final population counts for States and counties and their urban and rural parts, and for standard metropolitan statistical areas, urbanized areas, all incorporated places, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more, and minor civil divisions.

Series PC(1)–1B to 57B: Chapter B. General Population Characteristics. These reports will present statistics on sex, age, marital status, color or race, and relationship to head of household for States and counties and their urban and rural parts, and for standard metropolitan statistical areas, urbanized areas, places of 1,000 inhabitants or more, and minor civil divisions.

Series PC(1)–1C to 53C: Chapter C. General Social and Economic Characteristics. These reports will cover the subjects of nativity and parentage, State of birth, country of origin of the foreign stock, mother tongue, place of residence in 1955, year moved into present house, school enrollment by level and type, years of school completed, families and their composition, fertility, veteran status, employment status, weeks worked in 1959, year last worked, occupation group, industry group, class of worker, place of work, means of transportation to work, and income of persons and families. Each subject will be shown for some or all of the following areas: States and counties and their urban, rural-nonfarm, and rural-farm parts, standard metropolitan statistical areas, urbanized areas, and urban places.

Series PC(1)–1D to 53D: Chapter D. Detailed Characteristics. These reports will present most of the subjects covered in chapter C, above, cross-classified by age, color, and other characteristics. There will also be included additional information on families, as well as data on single years of age, detailed occupation, and detailed industry. Each subject will be shown for some or all of the following areas: States and their urban, rural-nonfarm, and rural-farm parts; and large counties, cities, and standard metropolitan statistical areas.

Volume I, Parts 1 to 57: Characteristics of the Population. This will consist of 57 parts—one for the United States, each of the 50 States, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Canal Zone. Each part will consist of the data previously published in the four chapters A, B, C, and D, and will be in the form of a separate, buckram-bound book. Parts 54, 55, 56, and 57—for Guam, Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Canal Zone, respectively—will be bound in a single book.

Volume I, Part A: Number of Inhabitants. This will be a compendium of the 57 chapter A reports, i.e., PC(1)–1A to 57A.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

A large number of persons participated in the various activities of the 1960 Census of Population. Primary responsibilities were exercised by many of the persons listed on the preceding page and especially by those in the Population, Decennial Operations, Field, and Geography Divisions, and Statistical Methods Office. Within these units of the Bureau, most of the staff members made important contributions to this program, particularly Henry D. Sheldon and Charles P. Brinkman of the Population Division in the planning of the content of this report; Morton A. Meyer, E. Richard Bourdon, and Richard A. Hornseth of the Decennial Operations Division in the processing and compilation of the statistics; Robert B. Voight, then Chief, and Ivan Munro of the Field Division in the collection of the information; Robert C. Klove and Robert L. Hagan of the Geography Division in the delineation of special types of urban territory and other geographic work; and Robert Hanson and Herman Fasteau of the Statistical Methods Office in the planning of sampling and quality control procedures. Important contributions were also made by the staffs of the Administrative Service Division, Everett H. Burke, Chief; Budget and Management Division, Charles H. Alexander, Chief; Census Operations Office, Robert D. Krook, Executive Officer; Electronic Systems Division, Robert F. Drury, Chief; Personnel Division, James P. Taff, Chief; and Statistical Research Division, William N. Hurwitz, Chief.

FINAL REPORTS OF THE 1960 CENSUS OF POPULATION

The results of the 1960 Census of Population are being published as soon as they are tabulated and assembled. Prior to the final reports, selected data are being issued in several series of preliminary and advance reports. Certain types of unpublished statistics will be available for the cost of preparing a copy of the data. Also, under certain conditions, special tabulations of the 1960 Census data can be prepared on a reimbursable basis. Further information can be obtained by writing to the Chief, Population Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., and giving a specific description of the figures desired.

Volume I. Characteristics of the Population. See description on page III.

Volume II (Series PC(2) reports). Subject Reports. This volume will consist of approximately 40 reports devoted essentially to detailed cross-classifications for the United States and regions for such subjects as national origin and race, fertility, families, marital status, migration, education, employment, unemployment, occupation, industry, and income. On some subjects (e.g., migration) statistics will also be shown for standard metropolitan statistical areas or States. In addition, there will be reports on veterans, the U.S. population overseas, and the geographic distribution and characteristics of the institutional population.

Volume III (Series PC(3) reports). Selected Area Reports. This volume will consist of two reports showing selected characteristics of the population (1) for State economic areas, and (2) according to the size of place where the individual resided.

Series PHC(1). Census Tract Reports. These reports will present information on both population and housing subjects. There will be one report for each of the approximately 175 tracted areas in the United States and Puerto Rico. The population subjects include age, race, marital status, country of origin of the foreign stock, relationship to head of household, school enrollment, years of school completed, place of residence in 1955, employment status, occupation group, industry group, place of work, means of transportation to work, and income of families, as well as certain characteristics of the nonwhite population in selected tracts. The housing subjects include tenure, color of head of household, vacancy status, condition and plumbing facilities, number of rooms, number of bathrooms, number of housing units in structure, year structure built, basement, heating equipment, number of persons in unit, persons per room, year household head moved into unit, automobiles available, value of property, and gross and contract rent, as well as certain characteristics of housing units with nonwhite household head for selected tracts. In addition, for selected tracts these reports will contain data on certain population and housing subjects for persons of Puerto Rican birth or parentage and for white persons with Spanish surname. (This series is the same as the tract reports included in the publication program for the 1960 Census of Housing.)

Number of Inhabitants

INTRODUCTION

This report presents statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are presented for minor civil divisions (townships, New England towns, etc.), urban places, incorporated places (cities, boroughs, villages, etc.), urbanized areas, standard metropolitan statistical areas, and on the population of the State and its counties or comparable areas classified by urban-rural residence. These data were secured in the 1960 Census of Population, conducted as of April 1, 1960. Comparable statistics from earlier censuses are also presented.

The extent of presentation of separate statistics for individual States is related, in part, to the Constitutional requirement that census figures serve as the basis for Congressional apportionment. Some of the detailed presentation for States, and even more of that for counties, cities, and minor civil divisions is based on Census Bureau experience as to what information is most wanted, supplemented by recommendations of our advisory committees, research, educational, and business organizations, and individuals. Financial limitations are, of course, an underlying factor compelling conciseness and such allocation of space as will serve all needs as fully as possible.

Usual place of residence.—In accordance with census practice dating back to 1790, each person enumerated in the 1960 Census was counted as an inhabitant of his usual place of residence or usual place of abode, which is generally construed to mean the place where he lives and sleeps most of the time. This place is not necessarily the same as his legal residence, voting residence, or domicile; however, in the vast majority of cases, the use of these different bases of classification would produce substantially the same statistics, although there may be appreciable differences for a few areas.

In the application of this rule, persons were not always counted as residents of the places in which they happened to be found by the census enumerators. Persons in the larger hotels, motels, and similar places where guests usually pay for quarters were enumerated on the night of March 31, and those whose usual place of residence was elsewhere were allocated to their homes. In addition, information on persons away from their usual place of residence was obtained from other members of their families, landladies, etc. If an entire family was expected to be away during the whole period of the enumeration, information on it was obtained from neighbors. A matching process was used to eliminate duplicate reports for a person who reported for himself while away from his usual residence and who was also reported at his usual residence by someone else.

Persons in the Armed Forces quartered on military installations were enumerated as residents of the States, counties, and minor civil divisions in which their installations were located. Members of their families were enumerated where they actually resided. As in 1950, college students were considered residents of the communities in which they were residing while attending college. The crews of vessels of the U.S. Navy and the American Merchant Marine in harbors of the United States were counted as part of the population of the ports in which their vessels were berthed on April 1, 1960. Inmates of institutions, who ordinarily live there for long periods of time, were counted as inhabitants of the place in which the institution was located; whereas patients in general hospitals, who ordinarily remain for short periods of time, were counted at, or allocated to, their homes. Persons without a usual place of residence were counted where they were enumerated.

Americans who were overseas for an extended period (in the Armed Forces, working at civilian jobs, studying in foreign universities, etc.) are not included in the population of any of the States or the District of Columbia. On the other hand, persons temporarily abroad on vacations, business trips, and the like, were enumerated at their usual residences on the basis of information received from members of their families or from neighbors.

Urban-rural residence.—Data on the population of the State by urban-rural residence are shown for the State in table 1 and for the counties, or comparable areas, in table 6. According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see section below); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more.

This definition of urban is substantially the same as that used in 1950; the major difference between 1950 and 1960 is the designation in 1960 of urban towns in New England and of urban townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The effect on population classification arising from this change was actually less than the list of those places classified as urban under special rules would suggest, because, in 1950, most of the population living in such places was classified as urban by virtue of residence in an urbanized area or in an unincorporated urban place. (See sections below.) In censuses prior to 1950, the urban population comprised all persons living in incorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more and areas (usually minor civil divisions) classified as urban under somewhat different special rules relating to population size and density. In all definitions, the population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population. In the tables presenting the population by urban-rural residence, the "current" urban definition refers to the population classified in accordance with the definitions used in 1950 and 1960. The term "previous" urban definition refers to the definition used prior to 1950.

The most important component of the urban territory in all definitions is the group of incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more. A definition of urban territory restricted to such places, however, excludes a number of equally large and densely settled places merely because they are not incorporated places. Under the definition used previous to 1950, an effort was made to avoid some of the more obvious omissions by the inclusion of selected places which were classified as urban under special rules. Even with these rules, however, many large and closely built-up places were excluded from the urban territory.

To improve its measure of the urban population, the Bureau of the Census adopted, in 1950, the concept of the urbanized area and delineated, in advance of enumeration, boundaries for unincorporated places. All the population residing in urban-fringe areas and in unincorporated places of 2,500 or more is classified as urban according to the "current" definition. The urban towns, townships, and counties as defined for the 1960 Census are somewhat similar in concept to the minor civil divisions classified as urban under special rules in 1940 and 1930.

For the convenience of those interested in the historical trend of the urban and rural population, the 1950 and 1960 population figures are shown on the basis of both the "current" definition and the "previous" definition. Although the Bureau of the Census has employed other definitions of "urban" in prior years, the urban and rural population figures published here as according to the "previous" definition have been revised to present a substantially consistent series.

Counties.—The primary divisions of the States are, in general, termed counties, but in Louisiana these divisions are known as parishes. There are no counties in Alaska; in this State, data are shown for election districts, which are the nearest equivalents of counties. In some States (Maryland, Missouri, and Virginia), there are also a number of cities which are independent of any county organization and thus constitute primary divisions of their States.

Minor civil divisions.—To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau of the Census applies the general term "minor civil divisions." Statistics on the population of each county or comparable area by minor civil divisions appear in table 7. Incorporated places which are not themselves minor civil divisions and unincorporated places are shown indented under the minor civil divisions in which they are located. When an incorporated or unincorporated place lies in more than one minor civil division, the population of the several parts is shown in table 7 under the appropriate minor civil division, and each part is designated as "part." The total population of such places appears in table 8. Unincorporated places are designated by "U" and urban towns and townships by "UT." Changes effected between 1950 and 1960 in boundaries of the areas are shown in the notes at the end of table 7. Boundary changes occurring between 1940 and 1950 are given in table 6 of State reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

Places.—The term "place" as used in reports of the decennial censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, the larger unincorporated places outside the urbanized areas were delineated and those with a population of 1,000 or more are presented in the same manner as incorporated places of equal size. Each unincorporated place possesses a definite nucleus of residences and has its boundaries drawn so as to include, if feasible, all the surrounding closely settled area. Furthermore, unincorporated places are shown within urbanized areas if they have 10,000 inhabitants or more and if there was an expression of local interest in their recognition. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.—Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the decennial censuses are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin. The towns in these States are minor civil divisions similar to the townships found in other States and not necessarily thickly settled centers of population such as the cities, boroughs, towns, and villages in other States. Similarly, in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, where some townships possess powers and functions similar to those of incorporated places, the townships are not classified as "incorporated places." Thus some minor civil divisions which are "incorporated" in one legal sense of the word are not regarded by the Census Bureau as "incorporated places." Without this restriction all of the towns in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin and the townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania would have to be counted as incorporated places without any consideration of the nature of population settlement. A number of towns and townships in these States do qualify, however, as urban towns or townships and in others the densely settled portions are recognized as unincorporated places or as parts of an urban fringe.

Unincorporated places.—As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 7 and 8. Population data for 1950 are shown only for those unincorporated places which had the same name in both 1950 and 1960. Of course, the boundaries of many such places have changed as the communities have grown.

Urban places.—The count of urban places in 1960 includes all incorporated and unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more, and the towns, townships, and counties classified as urban. Under the "previous" urban definition, places of 2,500 or more and the areas urban under special rules were urban places.

Annexations.—The population figure for an incorporated place at earlier censuses applies to the area of the place at the time of the given census. Hence, the indicated change in population over the decade reflects the effect of any annexations or detachments. In order to permit an analysis of the relative importance of population growth within the old boundaries and of population added in annexed territory, table 9 for incorporated places of 2,500 or more has been included in this report. There were a great many annexations to cities in the decade of the 1950's, and some of them involved large areas.

Urbanized areas.—The major objective of the Bureau of the Census in delineating urbanized areas was to provide a better separation of urban and rural population in the vicinity of the larger cities, but individual urbanized areas have proved to be useful statistical areas. They correspond to what are called "conurbations" in some other countries. An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more in 1960,[1] as well as the surrounding closely settled incorporated places and unincorporated areas that meet the criteria listed below. All persons residing in an urbanized area are included in the urban population.

It appeared desirable to delineate the urbanized areas in terms of the 1960 Census results rather than prior to the census as was done in 1950. For this purpose a peripheral zone around each 1950 urbanized area and around cities that were presumably approaching a population of 50,000 was recognized. Within the unincorporated parts of this zone small enumeration districts were planned,[2] usually including no more than one square mile of land area and no more than 75 housing units.

Arrangements were made to include within the urbanized area those enumeration districts meeting specified criteria of population density as well as adjacent incorporated places. Since the urbanized area outside of incorporated places was defined in terms of enumeration districts, the boundaries for the most part follow such features as roads, streets, railroads, streams, and other clearly defined lines which may be easily identified by census enumerators in the field and often do not conform to the boundaries of political units.

[1] There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000. See the section below on "Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas" for further discussion of twin central cities, neither of which has a population of 50,000 or more.

[2] An enumeration district (ED) is a small area assigned to an enumerator which must be canvassed and reported separately. In most cases an ED contains approximately 250 housing units.

In addition to its central city or cities, an urbanized area also contains the following types of contiguous areas, which together constitute its urban fringe:

1. Incorporated places with 2,500 inhabitants or more
2. Incorporated places with less than 2,500 inhabitants, provided each has a closely settled area of 100 dwelling units or more
3. Towns in the New England States, townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and counties elsewhere which are classified as urban
4. Enumeration districts in unincorporated territory with a population density of 1,000 inhabitants or more per square mile (The area of large nonresidential tracts devoted to such urban land uses as railroad yards, factories, and cemeteries, was excluded in computing the population density of an enumeration district.)
5. Other enumeration districts in urincorporated territory with lower population density provided that they served one of the following purposes:
   a. To eliminate enclaves
   b. To close indentations in the urbanized area of one mile or less across the open end
   c. To link outlying enumeration districts of qualifying density that were no more than 1½ miles from the main body of the urbanized area.

Contiguous urbanized areas with central cities in the same standard metropolitan statistical area are combined. Urbanized areas with central cities in different standard metropolitan statistical areas are not combined, except that a single urbanized area was established in the New York–Northeastern New Jersey Standard Consolidated Area, and in the Chicago–Northwestern Indiana Standard Consolidated Area.

The boundaries of the urbanized areas for 1960 will not conform to those for 1950, partly because of actual changes in land use and density of settlement, and partly because of relatively minor changes in the rules used to define the boundaries. The changes in the rules include the following:

1. The use of enumeration districts to construct the urbanized areas in 1960 resulted in a less precise definition than in 1950 when the limits were selected in the field using individual blocks as the unit of area added. On the other hand, the 1960 procedures produced an urbanized area based on the census results rather than an area defined about a year before the census, as in 1950.
2. Unincorporated territory was included in the 1950 urbanized area if it contained at least 500 dwelling units per square mile, which is somewhat different criterion than the 1,000 persons or more per square mile of the included 1960 unincorporated areas.
3. The 1960 areas include those entire towns in New England, townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and counties that are classified as urban in accordance with the criteria listed in the section on urban-rural residence. The 1950 criteria permitted the exclusion of portions of these particular minor civil divisions.

In general, however, the urbanized areas of 1950 and 1960 are based on essentially the same concept, and the figures for a given urbanized area may be used to measure the population growth of that area.

An urbanized area may be thought of as divided into the central city, or cities, and the remainder of the area, or the urban fringe. Any city in an urbanized area which is a central city of a standard metropolitan statistical area (see the following section) is also a central city of the urbanized area. With but two exceptions, the names of the central cities appear in the titles of the areas. The central cities of the New York–Northeastern New Jersey Area are the central cities of the New York, Newark, Jersey City, and Paterson–Clifton–Passaic Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas. Likewise, the central cities of the Chicago–Northwestern Indiana Area are the central cities of the Chicago and Gary–Hammond–East Chicago Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas.

Data for the entire urbanized area are shown in this report in table 10 for each State in which a central city of the area is located. If that part of an urbanized area that extends into another State does not include a central city, data are shown only for that part within the State.

Standard metropolitan statistical areas.—It has been long recognized that for many types of social and economic analysis it is necessary to consider as a unit the entire population in and around the city whose activities form an integrated social and economic system. Prior to the 1950 Census, areas of this type had been defined in somewhat different ways for different purposes and by various agencies. Leading examples were the metropolitan districts of the Census of Population, the industrial areas of the Census of Manufactures, and the labor market areas of the Bureau of Employment Security. To permit all Federal statistical agencies to utilize the same areas for the publication of general-purpose statistics, the Bureau of the Budget has established standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's).[3]

Except in New England, an SMSA is a county or group of contiguous counties which contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more or "twin cities" with a combined population of at least 50,000. In addition to the county, or counties, containing such a city or cities, contiguous counties are included in an SMSA if, according to certain criteria, they are essentially metropolitan in character and are socially and economically integrated with the central city. The criteria followed in the delineation of SMSA's relate to a city, or cities, of sufficient population size to constitute the central city and to the economic and social relationships with contiguous counties that are metropolitan in character.

1. Each SMSA must include at least:
   a. One city with 50,000 inhabitants or more, or
   b. Two cities having contiguous boundaries and constituting, for general economic and social purposes, a single community with a combined population of at least 50,000, the smaller of which must have a population of at least 15,000.
2. If two or more adjacent counties each have a city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the cities are within 20 miles of each other (city limits to city limits), they will be included in the same area unless there is definite evidence that the two cities are not economically and socially integrated.

The criteria of metropolitan character relate primarily to the attributes of the outlying county as a place of work or as a home for a concentration of nonagricultural workers. Specifically, these criteria are:

3. At least 75 percent of the labor force of the county must be in the nonagricultural labor force.
4. In addition to criterion 3, the county must meet at least one of the following conditions:
   a. It must have 50 percent or more of its population living in contiguous minor civil divisions with a density of at least 150 persons per square mile, in an unbroken chain of minor civil divisions with such density radiating from a central city in the area.
   b. The number of nonagricultural workers employed in the county must equal at least 10 percent of the number of nonagricultural workers employed in the county containing the largest city in the area, or the outlying county must be the place of employment of at least 10,000 nonagricultural workers.
   c. The nonagricultural labor force living in the county must equal at least 10 percent of the nonagricultural labor force living in the county containing the largest city in the area, or the outlying county must be the place of residence of a nonagricultural labor force of at least 10,000.
5. In New England, the city and town are administratively more important than the county, and data are compiled locally for such minor civil divisions. Here, towns and cities are the units used in defining SMSA's. In New England, because smaller units are used and more restricted areas result, a population density of at least 100 persons per square mile is used as the measure of metropolitan character.

The criteria of integration relate primarily to the extent of economic and social communication between the outlying counties and the central county.

6. A county is regarded as integrated with the county or counties containing the central cities of the area if either of the following criteria is met:
   a. If 15 percent of the workers living in the given outlying county work in the county or counties containing the central city or cities of the area, or b. If 25 percent of those working in the given outlying county live in the county or counties containing the central city or cities of the area.

[3] See also the Bureau of the Budget publication Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., 1959.

Only where data for criteria 6a and 6b are not conclusive are other related types of information used. This information includes such items as average telephone calls per subscriber per month from the county to the county containing central cities of the area; percent of the population in the county located in the central city telephone exchange area; newspaper circulation reports prepared by the Audit Bureau of Circulation; analysis of charge accounts in retail stores of central cities to determine the extent of their use by residents of the contiguous county; delivery service practices of retail stores in central cities; official traffic counts; the extent of public transportation facilities in operation between central cities and communities in the contiguous county; and the extent to which local planning groups and other civic organizations operate jointly.

7. Although there may be several cities of 50,000 or more in an SMSA, not all are necessarily central cities. The following criteria are used for determining central cities:

a. The largest city in an SMSA is always a central city.

b. In addition, one or two additional cities may be secondary central cities on the basis and in the order of the following criteria:

(1) The additional city or cities have at least 250,000 inhabitants.

(2) The additional city or cities have a population of one-third or more of that of the largest city and a minimum population of 25,000, except that both cities are central cities in those instances where cities qualify under criterion 1b. (A city which qualified as a secondary central city in 1950 but which does not qualify in 1960 has been temporarily retained as a central city.)

8. The titles of the SMSA's consist of the names of the central cities followed by the names of the States in which the areas are located.

In this report, data for SMSA's which cross State lines are shown in full in table 11 for each State in which a central city is located. If that part of an SMSA that extends into another State does not include a central city, data are shown only for the part within the State. In table 12 only that part of the SMSA which is within the State is shown.

In the 1950 Census reports, data were presented for standard metropolitan areas (SMA's) and in several earlier censuses a somewhat similar type of area called the "metropolitan district" was used. In 1959, the criteria for delineating SMA's were revised by the Bureau of the Budget, and, at the same time, the areas were designated as standard metropolitan statistical areas. The comparative figures shown here for 1950 apply to the SMSA as defined in 1960.

Standard consolidated areas.—In view of the special importance of the metropolitan complexes around New York and Chicago, the Nation's largest cities, several contiguous SMSA's and additional counties that do not appear to meet the formal integration criteria but do have strong interrelationships of other kinds have been combined into the New York–Northeastern New Jersey and the Chicago–Northwestern Indiana Standard Consolidated Areas, respectively. The former is identical with the New York–Northeastern New Jersey SMA of 1950, and the latter corresponds roughly to the Chicago SMA (two more counties having been added).

DATE: November 8, 1967

FROM : Joseph L. Donovan
Secretary of State

SUBJECT: Chanhassen Special Federal Census

We transmit herewith certified copy of Special Federal Census Certificate of the population of the Village of Chanhassen, as of October 3, 1967. This Special Census was lawfully taken, filed by the secretary of state and is certified, pursuant to Laws 1967, Chapter 709, for which local approval was filed with the secretary of state on July 10, 1967. This special act of the Legislature also sets forth the limitations on the use of this census which are stated as "for the purposes of any law providing that population is a required qualification for tax distribution, liquor licensing under Minnesota Statutes, Chapter 340, or distribution of highway aids."

Dear Governor Anderson:

The Honorable John A. Blatnik has requested that we furnish you with the enclosed official certificate, under the seal of the Bureau of the Census, of the corrected 1960 population figure for Herman township, in St. Louis County, Minnesota. The official population of this township is 5,765 rather than 5,192. I regret that the population of Herman township was incorrectly reported as a result of an error in processing the returns of the 1960 census.

If we can be of any further assistance, please let us know.

Sincerely,

George H. Brown
