TECHNICAL SERVICES SUPPORTING MRAC'S GRANT PROGRAMS

MRAC had planned to offer approximately 65 grant application workshops during 2016/17 biennium. These two-hour workshops cover the fundamentals of preparing an effective MRAC application prior to each grant round for major programs (Arts Activities Support, Community Arts, Arts Learning, Organizational Development, Capital, Next Step).

Actual grant application workshops during FY16: 30

Training and networking opportunities have been very successful tools in reaching and serving MRAC constituents groups, particularly "greater metro" groups that are isolated and unaware of resources available to help them. As groups participate in trainings and other convenings, they discover other connections for peer support and creative learning, resources and strategies and to bring the arts to their communities.

The arts thrive in Minnesota.

- LOCALS is a professional affinity group for art center/arts council managers in the 7 county metro area that meets several times a year and provides an opportunity to network, sharing promising practices, and learn together with guest speakers, on timely management topics. Due to MRAC's staff turnover in fall 2015, we were not able to offer programming with the LOCALS group. With new staff hired in FY17, MRAC plans to re-connect with this group to coordinate programs and training activities.

- Workshops & Trainings are free seminars for nonprofit arts organizations in the 7 county metro area with budgets under $400,000 (although people from outside of the region and from larger organizations are welcome to attend). These activities provide training on topics that help small arts organizations improve the management of their organizations, such as social media, online fundraising and program evaluation among others.

MRAC has long standing relationships with MAP for Nonprofits, the Nonprofits Assistance Fund, Minnesota Council of Nonprofits, the University of St. Thomas, and Hamline University to help with identifying expert guest speakers.

Session topics are developed according to input from our constituents. Ten training workshops for nonprofit arts organizations were held from August 2015 - January 2016. In addition, MRAC co-sponsored a special convening with the Minnesota Council of Nonprofits in April 2016 on "Accessible Event Planning." In total, 314 people attended the 11 training sessions in FY16. However, due to MRAC staff turnover in fall 2015, the training program was put on hold for the remainder of the year until a new Program Director could be hired to coordinate this initiative. Attached at the end of this report is a MRAC FY16 Training Program Summary.

- MRAC's monthly e-newsletter provided stimulating and timely information for constituents and colleagues and three new Tri-Annual reports were produced that provided more in-depth stories about our constituents and the impact of their MRAC funded projects in our region.
- Arts & Culture Funders Database
MRAC staff members are often asked, "Where else can I go for funding?" To help answer that question, MRAC continued a partnership during FY 2016 with Access Philanthropy, a Minneapolis-based consulting firm that helps nonprofits find and connect with funding resources. This searchable resource, the "Arts & Culture Funders Database" of approximately 448 funders, can be used by anyone for free through a link on MRAC's website or through Access Philanthropy's website at www.accessphilanthropy.com. In addition, users can register – also for free – to receive a quarterly calendar showing upcoming deadlines of ongoing and special funding opportunities, and MRAC will provide periodic alerts on updates to the Arts & Culture Funders Database.

Strategic Planning Update:

For the 2010/2011 and 2012/2013 biennia, MRAC had agreed as an organization that Legacy funds were too new to consider major changes in programs, and for the 2014/2015 biennium, the MRAC staff at that time agreed that the migration of grant applications from paper to an online system was the dominant issue for MRAC that would render program changes impracticable.

Consequently, MRAC and board staff decided that the 2016/2017 biennium timeframe would provide an opportunity to take a deeper dive into our programs, policies, and procedures, some six years into Legacy funding that tripled our grants budget.

In early 2015, MRAC board and staff worked with Wilder Center for Communities to facilitate a series of conversations to identify critical issues with MRAC's board and staff that would lead up to MRAC's submission of a new biennial plan to MSAB. At the conclusion of these six listening sessions, it was decided that given the broad scope and diversity of issues that surfaced, MRAC would benefit from undertaking a full-blown strategic planning process in FY16.

In addition, there was consensus that an important component of MRAC's biennial plan for 2016/2017 should be the development of an intentional diversity, equity, and inclusion lens for our work.

Please see the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion section below for more information on this topic.

Organizational Transitions:

Due to several staff transitions in 2016, the proposed strategic planning process for FY16 was put on hold until new executive leadership was in place. Executive Director Jeff Prauer who had led MRAC for eight years, left in January 2016 and Shannon Forney, Program Director who managed the Organizational Development/Capital/Training programs left in November 2015. A board search committee was formed to lead the new executive director search process. Julie Sand was appointed Interim Executive Director during this transition. Amy Crawford was hired as the new Executive Director and began her position in June 2016. Ms. Crawford brings over thirty years of leadership experience and expertise from working in the philanthropic and nonprofit sectors.

Other staffing changes during FY16 included:

*Bob Burns, Program Director at MRAC for 19 years managing the Arts Activities Support and Community Arts grant funds left his position on June 30, 2016.

*Masami Kawazato, was hired to replace Bob Burns as the new Program Director, and began her position on June 1, 2016.

*After a thorough review of the organization's staffing needs, it was determined that the Executive Director position would no longer manage the Arts Learning Program, as Prauer had since the program's inception. Kelly Affeldt, serving as part-time Program Associate at the time, was engaged to manage the second round of FY16 Arts Learning grants. Kelly will continue as Program Director of Arts Learning in a newly created 80% FTE position that also manages the Next Step Fund, with a start-date of June 1, 2016.

*To support the growth and development of MRAC's panelists involved in the grant review process, a new Community Engagement Coordinator position at 80% FTE was created in June with the goal of having a new staff on board in late summer.

*The recruitment process was also started in May 2016 for a new Program Director position to manage the Organizational Development, Capital and monthly grant programs as well as to revitalize the training workshops with the goal of filling the position by July. This goal was successfully accomplished with the hiring of Bethany Whitehead as the new Program Director who started her position in mid-July 2016.

ARTS and CULTURAL HERITAGE FUND PROGRAMS and SERVICES OUTCOMES

MRAC's primary approach to the outcomes of our work aligns with the purposes of the Arts and Cultural Heritage Fund, and the guidelines for all of our programs are designed to produce outcomes that will align with the ACHF purposes:

Arts & Arts Access

Support for Minnesota artists and arts organizations in creating, producing, and presenting high-quality arts activities; to overcome barriers to accessing high quality arts activities; and to instill the arts into the community and public life in this state.

Arts Education

For high quality, age-appropriate arts education for Minnesotans of all ages to develop knowledge, skills and understanding of the arts.

Arts and Cultural Heritage

For events and activities that represent the diverse ethnic and cultural arts traditions, including folk and traditional artists and art organizations, represented in this state.

The goal in MRAC's 2016-17 Biennial Plan specific to Arts and Cultural Heritage Funds was for MRAC to continue to serve the artistic, cultural and geographic diversity of the metropolitan area through grants and services. The primary way that MRAC meets this goal is through grantmaking, which is summarized above. In addition, our Biennial Plan specified several Critical Success Factors towards achieving that goal:

- MRAC activity grants have a direct impact on constituents' ability to create successful arts projects that reach their target communities.
- MRAC's staff services, training programs and organizational grants help arts organizations strengthen and thrive.
- MRAC is accessible to its underrepresented communities in terms of relationship, funding, and services.
- MRAC staff is welcoming and informed.

We can report the following outcomes:

- OUTCOME: Many projects funded in FY 2016 are still in progress. Approximately, the majority of grant recipients' final reports that have been submitted to date indicate that the project was artistically successful, reached the target constituency, and had community impact. (We continue to strive to get grantees to report on outcomes rather than outputs, in part by simplifying our final report forms, and in part by clarifying what we mean by outcomes in our grant application workshops and other direct contact with applicants.)
- OUTCOME: While we did not send a constituent survey this year due to the staff transitions, we continue to receive positive feedback from our grant applicants and grantees for their involvement in MRAC's grant application workshops, ease and flexibility of online grant application process, access to our library and panel recordings, panel review process and technical assistance and support provided by MRAC staff. With a new staff team coming together for the FY17 program year, we plan to conduct a survey of applicants and grantees as part of our strategic planning process.
- OUTCOME: We continue to get applications from groups that have never applied before. The number of new applicants increased to 114 in FY16 from 95 in FY15. These new applicants represented a wide range of underrepresented and underserved populations including communities of color, New Americans groups, women, older adults, people with disabilities and GLBT individuals. At MRAC, "under-represented" is determined primarily in terms of geographic location, and obvious cultural specificity. Through our strategic planning efforts in FY17, we intend to further clarify the definition of this term as well as the meaning of "underserved."

ARTS ADVOCACY, EDUCATION, AND LEADERSHIP

Minnesotans believe the arts are vital to who we are.

Helping constituents better understand the power of grassroots advocacy is vital to MRAC's work. To achieve its arts advocacy goals, MRAC was actively involved in the work of the Forum of Regional Arts Councils of Minnesota, Minnesota Citizens for the Arts, the Minnesota State Arts Board and other organizations working to ensure that arts funding in Minnesota remains strong.

In previous years, MRAC's primary advocacy activity has been our "Big Check" events, at which groups receiving grants from the Arts Activities Support and Community Arts programs receive a poster-sized check, and the opportunity to be photographed with their state senators and representatives for publication in local newspapers. This event brings legislators and arts groups together, often for the first time, thereby educating arts groups in grassroots advocacy, and legislators on how small arts organizations are contributing to the vitality of their districts. Due to staffing changes this past year, we were not able to hold Big Check events as hoped, but did work closely with MCA in supporting Arts Advocacy Day 2016.

ORGANIZATION INFRASTRUCTURE

MRAC is governed by a board of directors, which has a 21-member maximum. The current membership includes 18 people from all seven counties, and a broad mix of backgrounds and skills, including arts organization administrators, community education and parks/recreation directors, individual artists, and for-profit sector professionals. All current board members have served on MRAC grant review panels.

From July 1, 2015 - January 30, 2016, Jeff Prauer served as MRAC's executive director. Julie Sand was appointed by MRAC's board to serve as Interim Executive Director from January-June 2016. Amy Crawford was selected to lead MRAC as its new Executive Director and began her position in June 2016.

The MRAC Board Nominating Committee began meeting in March to consider candidates for board vacancies and to draft a slate of officers for FY 2017, which was presented to and approved by the board at its June 28, 2016 meeting: Peter Leggett, president; Shelly Chamberlain, vice president; Julie Andersen secretary; Dayna Martinez, treasurer; and Colleen McLaughlin, member-at-large.

Jill Anfang, Assistant Director; City of Roseville Parks & Recreation Department was recognized for her six years of board service.

Two new members were elected to MRAC's board of directors for a three year term: Djenane Saint Juste, Founder and Executive Director of the Afoutayi Haitian Dance Company, and Osman M. Ali, Founder and Executive Director of the Somali Museum of Minnesota respectively, at its board meeting held on June 28, 2016.

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION

As referenced in the Planning Process section on page 6, the increasing diversity in all seven counties over the past several years, and the fact that the current staff of 6.5 FTE during FY16 has two persons of color, have prompted MRAC to develop some intentional actions that will result in:

- A common understanding throughout the organization of what diversity, inclusion and underserved mean,
- How to assess and improve the organization's inclusiveness, and
- How to assess and increase racial equity with applicants, grantees and panelists.

In February, the Board of Directors created an Inclusion & Representation Task Force to serve, update and refine MRAC's diversity, equity and inclusion goals that were identified in the Fiscal Year 2016 and 2017 Biennial Plan. While inclusion and equity will never be considered "completed" actions, we do anticipate that there will be outcomes that can inform and improve MRAC's work. During FY 17, MRAC will identify indicators of diversity, equity, and inclusion according to various categories, which may include for example: racial-ethnic-cultural; types of art; gender; and geography, etc. These indicators will become metrics to which the organization will hold itself accountable.

FINANCIAL REPORT

We anticipate that the FY 2016 audit will be reviewed and approved by the MRAC Board of Directors at its meeting on October 25, 2016.
