MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 3, NUMBER 3 FEB 14, 1986

HIGHLIGHTS

Service for hearing impaired

Beginning Monday, Feb. 17, the House Public Information Office will have a new phone line to allow hearing impaired persons to communicate via telephone with the Legislature. The phone connects to a Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD). A TDD looks like a modified typewriter, with a phone coupler rather than a paper carriage.

To communicate, the caller types a message, which goes over the phone line, producing a high-pitched sound. The receiver prints out a message on an adding machine-style tape.

If you wish to use this service to contact a member of the House of Representatives or the State Senate, call (612) 296-9896.

Hazardous waste

Four Minnesota sites would be off the list of possible sites for a hazardous waste treatment facility under a bill the Environment and Natural Resources Committee recommended to pass Feb. 13.

HF1968 (Rose, IR-Roseville), would also create a plan to encourage communities to volunteer local sites for the facility by offering state funds as incentives.

As amended, the bill eliminates sites in Carver, Scott, Aitkin and Marshall counties which the Waste Management Board chose as potential sites. Protests from residents persuaded the 1984 Legislature to impose a moratorium on site selection.

The bill states that the facility must treat and contain hazardous wastes instead of storing untreated wastes. The bill would offer a county $100,000 as soon as negotiations with the board begin, and $250,000 when the county signs the contract.

Author John Rose said the provisions should attract a volunteer community, especially because of recent technological advances in the treatment of waste.

Income tax indexing

On Feb. 13, the House voted, 109-18, in favor of HF1725, a bill that would repeal the law that automatically suspends income tax indexing if the state has a budget shortfall. Indexing adjusts income tax brackets, credits, and the standard deduction for inflation.

Repeal of indexing suspension would save Minnesota taxpayers $75 million this year, according to Author William Schreiber (IR-Brooklyn Park)..

The repeal measure now goes to the Senate Taxes and Tax Laws Committee.

School aid cuts

Summer school for grades kindergarten through 12 (K-12) would be temporarily on the shelf along with the state's fledgling arts school under a school aids amendment to HF1766 (Olsen, IR-St. Louis Park). The bill got a recommendation to pass, as amended, from the Education Finance Division of the Education Committee, Feb. 13.

Rejecting the Governor's proposed $95 million across-the-board cuts in education, the division chose to retain current property tax credits, basic foundation aids, and all 9-month k-12 and 12-month special education programs.

The division's amendment contains about an $11 million reduction in the 1986-88 school year, or .88 percent of the budget. Of the $11 million, about $3.5 million would come from cuts in state education agencies and transportation aids. Summer school and the other affected programs would resume once the state's budget reserve reaches a specified level.

The division heard the governor's proposal Feb. 10, which would cut school district budgets by about six percent. According to numerous witnesses in a Feb. 11 division meeting, such cuts would mean an increase in K-12 class sizes because of teacher layoffs, and the end of many special education programs. Already in an economic depression, rural areas would face the greatest hardships, they said.

The full Education Committee hears the amendment to HF1766 Feb. 14.

Medical provider fees

Some doctors may withdraw from the Medical Assistance and General Assistance Medical Care provider programs unless the state pays them higher fees.

Tom Mahowald, a spokesman for the Minnesota Medical Association, told the Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 12 that the state is taking advantage of doctors' "social conscience" by asking them to accept reimbursement on the basis of fees they charged seven years ago.

Payments to medical providers were at the fiftieth percentile of 1979 charges until last year, when the Legislature approved an increase to 1982 charge levels. The governor's budget would return doctor reimbursement to the previous level, saving the state $15.4 million over the next biennium.

Mahowald said physicians are "up in arms" over the proposal. He also questioned why doctors should suffer a 20 percent budget cut, when most state departments are reducing their budgets by 3.5 percent.

AVTI reorganization

Local school boards would no longer govern Area Vocational-Technical Institutes (AVTIs) under HF2049, a bill Rep. Ben Boo (IR-Duluth) is sponsoring. The Education Committee and the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee reviewed the proposal in a joint meeting Feb. 12.

The bill's provisions include:

- severing wage negotiations for AVTI instructors from K-12 teacher contracts.
- clustering the state's 34 AVTI campuses into regional administrative groups with separate boards of directors instead of local school boards.
- transferring campus properties and personnel from local to regional districts.

"Local school boards have primary responsibility for running their K-12 programs and just don't have time for AVTI issues," said Joseph Graba, state director of vocational technical education. "Most of the local boards also don't have the area-wide perspective AVTI needs. And no group or person oversees the decisions they make."

The Minnesota Higher Education Coordinating Board favors a state-wide authority structure over regional organizations.

Fetal death/injury

Anyone who kills or injures a fetus would face up to life in prison under a bill that moved out of committee Feb. 12 and on to the full House.

The Crime and Family Law Committee recommended passage of HF1844 (Dempsey, IR-New Ulm) that defines an unborn child and provides criminal penalties for its injury or death.

The committee also heard, but didn't recommend passage of a bill by Rep. David Bishop (IR-Rochester). Bishop's bill doesn't define a fetus but provides criminal penalties for injury to a pregnant woman that results in miscarriage, stillbirth, or the birth of an injured child.

Bishop said his bill would provide more complete and immediate protection for fetuses because it would avoid constitutional challenges on the definition of fetus and whether the fetus could live outside the womb.

But Rep. Randy Kelly (DFL-St. Paul) said three states already have laws that describe the victim as the fetus, not the pregnant woman. Courts haven't narrowed the scope of the law in those states, he said.

The bill provides up to life imprisonment for death of a fetus, and 10 years for harm to a fetus. The bill excludes abortions.

Troopers and tickets

Do state troopers issue traffic tickets to meet a daily or quarterly quota? That question was up for debate at a Feb. 12 meeting of the Transportation Committee. On the agenda was HF1930 (Carlson, IR-Sandstone), a bill that would prohibit state patrollers from ordering, or in any manner suggesting, that a trooper issue a certain number of tickets.

After looking at a trooper evaluation form, which has a column for "expected activity for hours worked," some legislators argued that the form sets up a quota system because it puts emphasis on the number of tickets a trooper issues.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1986 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, 175 State Office Building, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Information Officer: Jean Steiner • Editor: Peg Hamerston • Assistant Editor/Writer: Lisa Lissimore • Art and Production Coordinator: Donna J. Lyons • Session Writers: Susan Shepard Carlson, Amy Gage, Beverly Geber, Barbara Ladd • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Terrie Gimpel, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer • Staff Intern: Martha Ebey • Keyliner: Sue Van Horn.

Major Glen Gramse, from the Department of Public Safety, in response, said that Minnesota doesn't have a quota system. But, he said, we do have an evaluation system that looks at what troopers do.

"It's a system where you have to deal with things you can look at and measure, and we measure citations, but in a very minimum way," he said.

Author of the bill, Rep. Doug Carlson, said whether or not Minnesota has a quota system, nothing is wrong with having this kind of legislation on the books. He said it will prevent anyone from accusing the state of having a quota system.

The committee recommended the bill to pass as amended.

Office of state treasurer

Voters may get to decide this fall whether to cut the office of state treasurer.

The Governmental Operations Committee Feb. 11 recommended to pass SF363 after amending into it the language from HF424 (Dyke, IR-Worthington). The bill would call for a constitutional amendment to eliminate the office of state treasurer by 1991. The only way to do that is to put the question before the people in a general election.

Robert Mattson now holds the office of treasurer and runs it out of a residential duplex in St. Paul. Mattson moved from his State Administration Building quarters near the Capitol when the 1985 Legislature drastically cut his duties, staff, and budget.

Rep. Randy Kelly (DFL-St. Paul), said the voters should decide if legislators decided wisely. "If the people of the state of Minnesota choose to abolish this office, then effective 1991, that will be the case. If they don't, then I think we should be back here next year giving that office something more to do than what it's currently charged with."

The Senate version of the bill would have replaced the secretary of state, treasurer, and auditor with a comptroller.

Dyke said a committee task force examined the option, but decided the positions had such different duties it wouldn't be logical to combine them.

The bill now goes to the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee, which will decide whether to put the question on the ballot this fall. Then both Senate and House will have to agree on what the wording will be.

Sexual exploitation

Should Minnesota law give patients the right to sue their therapists for sexual exploitation?

On Feb. 11, members of the Judiciary Committee recommended a bill which would put into the statutes the right of patients to bring such actions against their therapists.

Author of HF1851, Rep. Bert McKasy (IR-Mendota Heights) says no statutory law currently exists on sexual exploitation by therapists. He says the bill would create a legislative policy against such exploitation, simplify litigation, and encourage settlement of cases.

Physicians, psychologists, nurses, social workers, clergy, and other psychotherapy workers would fall under the bill's definition of psychotherapist. The bill would also impose certain requirements on the employers of therapists who know or have reason to know of the exploitation.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

Education budgets

The Department of Education may terminate 24 positions during the biennium, which will help achieve a $2.1 million savings, department officials told the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 11. Elementary and Secondary Education, Technology and Curriculum Integration, and the Faribault Academies are among the departmental divisions that may feel the cuts.

Deputy Commissioner Curman Gaines said, in reviewing priority lists from assistant commissioners and managers, that he and Commissioner Ruth Randall kept in mind their goal to hurt the school districts least.

David Longanecker of the Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB) said state reductions in financial aid will "cut beyond the quick" because of the prospect of rising tuition and reduced federal assistance for students. He said HECB plans include few "hard cuts" in scholarship and grant money. Instead, the HECB will cover the $1.7 million reduction in this area with a 5 percent surcharge on parental contributions to educational fees.

Longanecker said that between Gramm-Rudman's $3.5 million cut in financial aid, and the proposed federal budget's $9 million cut in grants and scholarships, the average student at the University of Minnesota could pay $670 more in tuition next year.

Farm valuation

Is the current system of valuing farm land fair? Many farmers don't think so. They say the system doesn't reflect the land's actual value.

Several farmers testified at a meeting of the Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee Feb. 10. They spoke in favor of HF843 (Frerichs, IR-Rochester), a bill that would change the farm-property valuation system.

Author Rep. Donald Frerichs says the present system bases values on a history of sales. His bill, he says, would change it to a system that bases valuation on net income and the cost of money.

"The taxation policy must be set on an ability to pay and the only system that meets this criteria is a valuation of productivity," Frerichs says.

The division hears the bill again later in the session.

PUC code of ethics

A code of ethics the five-member Minnesota Public Utilities Commission (PUC) recently adopted came under criticism at a Feb. 10 meeting of the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee.

PUC Chair Harry Crump said the code evolved from a recommendation in a Department of Administration management study.

Under the ethics code, commissioners couldn't accept food or beverages from lobbyists. Nor could they take jobs in Minnesota utility companies for at least one year after they leave their commission posts.

Rep. Tom Osthoff (DFL-St. Paul) said, "The accessibility of commissioners would, it seems to me, be sorely hampered if they couldn't accept drinks or eat dinner with utility representatives. My vote can't be bought by a drink or dinner. And I doubt whether commissioners' decisions would be influenced any more by it than mine would."

Other committee members pointed out that the employment clause is probably unconstitutional. "I cannot believe that, legally, the state can tell anyone when or where they can or cannot work," said Rep. Dennis Poppenhagen (IR-Detroit Lakes).

Karl Sonneman, PUC counsel, said, "To a large degree, a code of conduct is self-enforcing." The PUC code of ethics reflects provisions in the conduct code for the executive branch of the federal government, he added.

The committee expects to continue its discussion about the PUC code next week.

Clarification

Session Weekly, Jan. 31, page 1, "Medical malpractice insurance," third paragraph, should read:

HF1764 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington) provides that if an impaired plaintiff receives payment for damages from one insurance company, the plaintiff could not collect the same payments from another insurer.

In other words, the plaintiff could not collect twice for the same damage. Nothing in the bill prohibits the plaintiff from collecting 100 percent for damages.

House budget resolution

On Feb. 10, the House voted, 101-26, in favor of a budget resolution calling for $384 million in cuts or adjustments to the current budget. The resolution, which agrees with the governor's proposal to reduce the deficit, provides that $100 million stay in the reserve fund and sets state spending at $10.209 billion.

Under the House rules, the speaker will have the power to rule out of order any tax or spending bill or amendment that would exceed the levels the resolution sets.

Recall of elected officials

"Shall the Minnesota Constitution be amended to allow for the recall of elective officers by petition and special election?"

Minnesota voters could find this question on their 1986 ballot if HF124 becomes state law. On Feb. 7, the General Legislation and Veterans Affairs Committee approved the recall legislation and sent it on to the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee.

"This is simply a mechanism to restore to the people the power to recall elected officials," said author Paul Thiede (IR-Pequot Lakes). He said 16 states currently have recall in their statutes.

Under the bill, if the voters approve the constitutional amendment, 25 percent of the eligible voters in the most recent election of a particular geographic district could recall state elected officials by signing a petition. After the filing of a proper petition, an incumbent would stand for election in a special election unless he or she chooses to resign. HF124 would prohibit the recalling of elected officials with less than one year service in office.

"It strikes at the very foundation of the principles upon which our government has been established," said a supporter of the bill, Tom Morehouse of Anoka County. "It promotes the principles of limited government and individual freedom."

Helen Schendel of the League of Minnesota Cities said the league opposes the portion of the bill relating to cities. "Home rule charter cities may provide for petition and recall. And any city which chooses to be a home rule charter city has that authority to do so," she said. "We prefer that the Legislature not mandate it to us."

Service station moratorium

Service station owners (franchisees) who want to repair cars and sell only gas and oil would continue to get protection under Minnesota law if the Legislature passes HF1897 (Bennett, IR-Shoreview). The bill would extend until July 1, 1988, a moratorium that stops parent oil companies from forcing franchisees to sell other merchandise and do away with service bays.

However, the bill, which the Commerce and Economic Development Committee, Feb. 7, recommended to pass would allow station owners to carry other merchandise if they want to.

The bill's author, Rep. Tony Bennett, says HF1897 is a continuation of a two-year moratorium the Legislature passed in 1984. He says he wants to extend the moratorium until the courts decide on several court cases challenging the force conversion issue.

Committee deadlines

On Feb. 10, the full House adopted a Senate concurrent resolution providing session deadlines for the Legislature in accordance with Joint Rule 2.03.
